

Prof. Dr. Aleksander Berentsen

About

Aleksander Berentsen is Professor of Economic Theory and Dean of the Faculty of Business and Economics of the University of Basel. His research interests include monetary economics, financial markets and blockchain technologies.

Career

He held visiting positions at the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Pennsylvania, the University of Zurich, the Free University of Berlin and the Université Paris Dauphine. From 2014 to 2016 he was an external consultant for the Swiss National Bank. Since 2009 he is research fellow at the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis.

Education

Aleksander Berentsen studied at the Universities of Basel and Bern, and at the London School of Economics. He has published academic articles among others in the American Economic Review, Review of Economic Studies and the Journal of Monetary Economics.

List of publications by Prof. Dr. Aleksander Berentsen