Who manages the Fund?

Credit Suisse Asset Management, LLC (the “Investment Manager”), a Delaware, United States, limited liability company, serves as the investment manager of the Fund. The Investment Manager is an indirect, wholly-owned subsidiary of Credit Suisse Group AG, a leading global financial services company headquartered in Zurich, Switzerland.

Credit Suisse (Hong Kong) Limited, a limited company incorporated under the laws of Hong Kong SAR and G10 Capital Limited (part of the Lawson Conner Group), a limited company incorporated under the laws of England and Wales, will act as sub-investment managers to the Fund.

What is the Fund’s investment objective and policy?

Aims of the Fund

The Fund’s investment objective is to deliver a consistent, low volatility, positive return stream with limited drawdowns.

How the Aims are Achieved

The Investment Manager seeks to achieve this objective by developing and running a variety of quantitative, systematic trading and investment strategies. Specifically, the Investment Manager’s personnel formulate hypotheses about the drivers of asset returns and apply a rigorous scientific approach to design, develop, implement and manage strategies around these hypotheses.

At a high level, the trading strategies can be classified as:

- Systematic Strategies – These capitalize on opportunities that are identified through quantitative analysis of a wide array of historical data. Portfolios are optimized to balance Sharpe Ratio, return, and trading costs. Trades are executed algorithmically.
- Market Liquidity Strategies – These react to real-time demand for securities by providing liquidity to offset such short-term demand. They use appropriate hedging instruments to offset risk and liquidate the combined risk exposures over a medium-term timeframe.

What risk factors may affect the Fund?

The following list of risk factors does not purport to be a complete enumeration or explanation of all the risks involved in an investment in the Fund. Prospective Shareholders should read the section of the Prospectus titled “Certain Risk Factors” and consult with their own advisers before deciding whether to invest in the Fund.

An investment in the Fund involves the following general risks:

- Shareholders will bear the fees and expenses of the Fund.
- There are special tax risks associated with an investment in the Fund.
- The market price, if any, of Shares can fluctuate and may not always reflect the net asset value per Share. There can be no guarantee that any appreciation in the Fund’s investments will occur and investors may not get back the full value of their investment. The net asset value per Share and the market price, if any, of Shares, and the income from them, can go down as well as up. The investment returns on the Fund’s portfolio and the returns from an investment in Shares in the future may differ materially from historical returns and will depend, among other things, on the composition of the Fund’s portfolio.
- General economic conditions may affect the Fund’s performance and prospects. Changes in interest rates, rates of inflation, industry conditions, changes in tax and other laws and other factors may adversely affect the value and number of investments made by the Fund.

In view of the risks noted above, as well as the risks described in “Certain Risk Factors” section of the Prospectus, there can be no assurance that the Fund will achieve its investment objective. Thus, an investment in the Fund should be considered a speculative investment and you should invest in the Fund only if you can sustain a complete loss of their investment. The potential benefits of investing in the Fund must be weighed against the risks involved.
