

Changes Prospectus Credit Suisse Fund (Lux)

The sales prospectus of the Credit Suisse Fund (Lux) umbrella will be changed as of February 18, 2014.

Of special interest are the adjustments to the Credit Suisse Fund (Lux) Relative Return Engineered (Euro):

The fund prospectus will be amended to allow the direct investment of money market instruments and short- to mid-term maturity bonds, instead of synthetically replicating money market returns. The investment goal remains unchanged.

The fund aims to achieve a risk-return profile that is comparable with traditional bond funds. In contrast to a traditional investment fund, Credit Suisse Fund (Lux) Relative Return Engineered (Euro) uses derivatives to implement the investment strategy. Although the fund is being repositioned, standard derivatives will still be used to manage the risks of traditional bonds – interest rate, credit rating and currency risk.

The changes will not entail any costs for clients. Please note, however, that the repositioning could have tax implications. The tax status for the European savings tax directive will change from "In scope – no tax" to "In scope – subject to tax." As our clients have very different tax situations, Credit Suisse is unable to make general statements. We therefore recommend that clients contact their tax advisor to find out what the tax implications of this fund repositioning will be in their native country, country of residence, or country of domicile.

Clients who agree with this slight repositioning do not need take action. Clients who do not wish to participate in this repositioning may redeem their units by 3 p.m. CET on February 17, 2014.
